

Camp Good Grief 2025

Guiding grieving hearts

A program of IU Health Bloomington Hospice

For children ages 6 – 16 who have lost someone special

After the death of a loved one, kids often think...

- They won't feel good again
- No one understands
- Parents and other adults may be distracted by their own grief and can't help
- There is no other young person to talk to who has lost someone special

Camp Good Grief can help with these feelings, emotions and thoughts. Through art, music and play, campers will connect with others experiencing loss, learn positive coping skills and how to preserve memories and honor loved ones.
